The Raisin Cemetary is located in Section 23 of Raisin Township on Sutton Road about 1/4 mile east of Rogers Highway. It is situated on high rolling ground and has numerous stately old pine trees so characteristic of the earlier cemetarys.

However the cemetary was originally located about 3/4 of a mile away along present day Rogers Highway on the farm of John Richards, a pioneer farmer, who took up the land from the government. A grandson also named John Richards, and born on this same farm, was at one time Lenawee County surveyor and engineer.

About this early location very little is known but according to local tradition the site was changed because a member of the Richards family found it depressing to have a graveyard so close to the house. The relocating probably took place in 1837 as it is recorded that the first burial was Patience Pattison, 21 years of age, buried in lot #9 in that year. Also there is another tradition that a young girl affected by the relocation of the graves often wondered whose lot it would befall to first be buried in the new cemetary and she herself became the first.

It is recorded that the new cemetary consisted of 36 lots, also that an addition was made in 1873 increasing the size to 106 lots and another addition in 1919 which increased the cemetary to 159 lots its present size.

There are a few remaining stones which predate the relocating of the cemetary, the earliest being dated 1833. There is a marker for Jane Macham 1825-1925, the only known centenarian.

There seven Civil War veterans recorded their names being Henry Carleton; E.E. Wildey; James McIntyre; O.E. Carpenter; John Wright; James Lane and James Simonds. James Simonds served in both the Civil and Mexican wars. During the Mexican War he was a member of Company K, 3D Dragoons and served as a personal body guard to General Winfield Scott. In the Civil War he served as a 1st. Lieutenant in the 6th Michigan Infantry.

The earliest birthdate to be found is on the tombstone of Deborah Holdrige who was born in 1775.

Mrs. Holdrige came to Michigan from New York state with her husband Felix in 1837. They resided on a farm in Section 23 of Raisin Township with a son Eleazer. In October of 1839 Mrs. Holdrige left the house to pick rushes and never returned. A search was organized which continued for several weeks without any results. About six weeks later her body was found in an Indian hut in Dundee township of Monroe County, about seven miles from the Holdrige home. It was theorized that Mrs. Holdrige became confused and wandered through the woods and swamps finally taking refuge in the Indian hut where she died of starvation.
